

Upton News

Vol 4 No.8 April 2012

We have had some glorious spring weather and all the bulbs and flowers are coming to life. However we have some snow forecast for this week, so let's hope it manages to miss us out. Probably of more concern is that our streams in the village have been dry for some time and the hosepipe ban is upon us. However I see that Thames Water is one of the worst water companies for the amount of water wasted due to leakages.

The children are breaking up for Easter and will want to be getting out and about and no doubt looking forward to an Easter Egg hunt and lot of chocolate eggs on Sunday.

We have had some generous offers of sponsorship from residents towards printing Upton News, which is good news. We are looking into the possibility of purchasing a printer. This is the easy part, the expensive bit is buying the ongoing consumables.

Happy Easter to everyone,
Sarah

Broadband Update

The Upton FTTC cabinet has now gone live, so Upton and West Hagbourne residents with line speeds of 15 Mb/s or more should now be able to order an Infinity service from BT or other providers. For those with line speeds below that threshold, some of these alternative providers may still be able to offer Infinity-equivalent services. There may also be a new level of service somewhere between Infinity and what we have now, but as yet I haven't been able to find any concrete examples of this. If anyone has more information on this, please let me know. To get an idea of your likely line speed, use the BT Broadband Checker.

As a point of interest, I have also heard from someone served by the first Blewbury cabinet that a BT engineer will be calling on Thursday to enable Infinity at their house. Any advance on Thursday from anyone?

Please keep me informed of successes (or otherwise) in getting individual Infinity services up and running, so we can get a picture of how things are progressing across the exchange area.

Rectors Reflections — Is God trustworthy?

A question for you: do you find it easy to trust God? Many, perhaps most of us, find this hard to do. Sometimes it's because of an experience in our own lives- we've been let down by someone, and been badly hurt. Sometimes we find it hard to trust God because we've prayed about something, and prayed hard for God to deal with it in a particular way, but nothing has happened.

Perhaps the hardest test of all comes when we look at the question of death. Can we trust God that somehow there might be something good the other side of death? Can we trust that God's goodness and love are strong enough to take death in their stride?

These are questions which Jesus had to face. Now Jesus knew the official answer to this question- the official answer was given in that part of the Bible which we call the Old Testament. The official answer stated that God was loving, merciful, forgiving, all powerful and completely trustworthy. The official answer was true- but official answers don't necessarily satisfy us.

When Jesus was being crucified, he cried out " My God, My God, why have you forsaken me?". Shortly before he was arrested, he prayed that God would take away this time of suffering. Jesus, as a human being, was finding it hard to trust God.

Jesus died an agonising death, and was buried. And that was that - or so it seemed. But on the third day, God raised Jesus from the dead. Jesus returned to life. He spoke, and ate, and was seen by many witnesses for a period of some forty days. God had indeed proved faithful. God had not abandoned Jesus, but had raised him from the dead.

Easter is, above all, a celebration of the trustworthiness of God. It says that yes, even in the face of death, we can trust God. This does not mean that God waives some magic wand and the reality of pain, suffering and death cease to exist. God is not a magician. But what it does mean is that we can face the pain and suffering which is our lot with hope.

We went to see Yes Prime Minister in March. Many of us remember fondly the original " Yes, Minister" on the television in the seventies and we were not to be disappointed by the new " Yes, Prime Minister" .

The play is bang up to date as we are immersed in the governing world of financial crisis, the global warming debate, the baffling European Union, the politics of oil and the instability of countries whose names end in "-stan". The blackberry has replaced the telephone; the civil service messenger is the prime means of communication and the fear of the Daily Mail is greater than the fear of the Parliamentary Opposition.

The same magic exists as we laugh at the behaviour of individuals, are dazzled by the language in the soliloquies of Humphrey, and to cap it all there lurks an ever present sense of the absurd. At one point I had tears of laughter running down my cheeks.

Jim Hacker (Prime Minister) was ably portrayed by Graham Seed (Nigel Pargetter of The Archers fame). A Prime Minister may to the public appear supremely powerful but he does not always feel that way. He does not have many troops supporting him against Sir Humphrey's mighty legions in Whitehall. On the surface he is blundering, vain, self-serving and self-publicising, but he is not always a fool, being crafty and a worthy opponent of Sir Humphrey. Above all he is touchingly human.

If you enjoyed the television series then there is no doubt that you will enjoy this production. A thoroughly entertaining evening.

Uptonogood?

Saturday 16th June

Will you be Uptonogood this year? The format will be the same, with four rides from 5 to 45 miles and "entertainment" on the recreation field afterwards.

Last year's volunteering efforts enabled us to donate £3,000 to the new play area project. This in turn enabled the project organizers to win a whopping £47,000 grant from WREN! Work on this new playground should start very soon. £1000 was also raised for our Primary School in Blewbury and additional donations made to Didcot Air Cadets and the Methodist Hall.

This year we hope to support Blewbury School with their efforts to build a new classroom for Year 7 and replace the ageing Portakabin currently used. We have also undertaken to contribute towards the printing costs of the Upton News on a permanent basis and hope that this will secure the village's printed edition in all its full colour glory! We will also seek to contribute funds to both the Village and Methodist halls to help with their upkeep and if possible develop the popular bike humps into a more formal circuit.

As with previous years we'll need a significant number of volunteers to pull the event off safely. If you would like to help out with Marshalling or in some other capacity, please contact Bob Lott (851222) or Mike Tibbetts (851474) or email info@uptonogood.org.uk.

Recipe of the Month

These are mini fairy cakes so they are a nice size for children. They are easy and so quick to make, too. Children can decorate them any way they like. Feel free to use whatever type of chocolate you prefer.

Serves: 18

For the fairy cakes:

140g self-raising flour

120g butter, softened

85g caster sugar

2 eggs

2 tbsp cocoa powder

For the icing:

100g milk or dark chocolate, melted

120g butter, softened

120g icing sugar

For decorating:

Large bag of mini eggs

Preparation method

Prep: 10 mins | Cook: 10 mins

1. Preheat the oven to 190C (gas mark 5). Line 3 mini muffin tins with colourful paper cases.
2. Weigh out the flour into a large bowl and add the remaining ingredients. Mix with an electric hand-beater until smooth.
3. Spoon the mixture into the paper cases, filling them 3/4 full. Bake for 10 -12 minutes, or until the sponge mixture feels firm when you touch it. Remove from the oven and cool.

4. To make the chocolate icing: mix the softened butter and sugar together with an electric beater, then add the melted chocolate. Be careful not to over beat it.
5. Spread on top of each fairy cake and decorate with 2 or 3 mini chocolate eggs.

April

April is the start of the Cricket season and in 2011 it was our Summer!

However, we may well have frosts to come. The adage here is "frost hurts no weeds", however, dandelions and stinging nettles were classed as food and not weeds when this adage was penned. The American philosopher RW Emerson defined a weed as a plant whose virtues haven't yet been discovered.

For the saying "April showers bring forth May flowers" we must await the showers and we seem to be very short of rain so far this year. An old folk lore was if Michaelmas was dry - spring would be dry as well. So far the folklores are holding true. One I have found to be moderately accurate (1 in 3) is "Ash before oak - in for a soak, but oak before ash- in for a splash".

The moon for March was the Sap Moon/Storm Moon and for April the new moon is on 21 April and it is the Egg Moon/Growing Moon.

The month of April will hopefully see the April showers. The rainbow should be a feature. A point to remember is that the centre of the rainbow circle is the same distance below the horizon as the sun is above. So if the sun is low, you see more of the rainbow.

If you want to encourage a storm, throw water on hot stones. (No I haven't tried that one).

The rooks are also worth watching and country folk will know that the rooks build nests low for a wet summer. To distinguish between rooks and crows, if you see one, it's a crow if you see lots, they are rooks. If you see a raven, you are in the Tower of London! On a more serious note, a raven is a much larger bird than a crow.
